Expressive Language

Expressive language skills refer to the ability to use words and join words together to express an idea/to communicate a message. This may be verbally or nonverbally.

Expressive language includes the ability to accurately use grammar and word order to form sentences.

Developing expressive language skills also carries over to literacy skills and written expression.

N.B. Typically children understand words before using them accurately and consistently.